To Whom It May Concern:

I am pleased to endorse Mr. Jesse Gonzales and the commercial electrical firm of COMELCO, Inc.

We have worked with COMELCO since Mr. Gonzales started the firm several years ago. They have done many small, medium and large sized jobs for us. COMELCO did all the electrical work when we were renovating our current 18,000 square foot office building, and they have completed many other jobs on additional building or renovation projects that we have undertaken on several of the Girl Scout properties in our five-county jurisdiction.

On every project, the company has completed the work on-time, and within budget. They have been cooperative and helpful when changes were requested or required. They have worked strange and long hours to complete projects for which requirements were changed mid-stream. Their bids are almost always lower than other contractors, and they always do quality work.

Probably the best thing about working with Mr. Gonzales and COMELCO is that I know they will include in a project only that which is required to complete the job. On more than one occasion, I have compared their bid with bids from other firms, and have been able to save thousands of dollars by using COMELCO's suggested fixtures, for example – instead of those of equal quality, but high mark-up, recommended by other firms.

In addition, Mr. Gonzales is a community-minded entrepreneur. He makes financial and in-kind gifts to non-profit organizations; he teaches young people in the community college setting; he is active in chamber of commerce groups; he regularly encourages young adults to stay in school and learn marketable skills. He is an excellent role model for all young people, especially young Hispanic men.

I highly recommend Mr. Jesse Gonzales and the firm of COMELCO, Inc.

Sincerely,
